MARGAO

V M Salgaocar Institute of International Hospitality Education (VMSIHE), Manora-Rala was conferred with the ‘Cleanest College’ of the state award for the third time in a row, for the academic year 2018-19.

The institute was honoured with the ‘Swachchatam Mahavidyalaya Samman’ from amongst 55 institutes affiliated to the Goa University.

The objective of the ‘Swachchatam Mahavidyalaya Samman’ scheme under the Swachh Bharat Mission is to encourage, motivate and institutionalise the concept of cleanliness and a green India among students, teaching community and support staff.

Professor Irfan Mirza, principal and director of VMSIHE received the award at the hands of Prakash Javadekar, Union Minister for Human Resource Development in the presence of Mridula Sinha, Governor of Goa at the 31st annual convocation ceremony of Goa University which was held on December 15.

The ‘Cleanest College’ of the state of Goa was gauged on 10 criteria, including a rainwater harvesting unit in the campus.

The particular college has its own sewage treatment plant, which helps in keeping the campus clean. Other best practices followed include re-using and recycling of waste, reducing carbon footprints by ensuring that all staff and students’ vehicles are PUC compliant.

The institute continues to raise the bar for the cleanest campus, and has won the award previously for the years 2016-17 and 2017-18.

The state-of-the-art campus, spread across 6 acres of lush greenery, and surrounded by green fields is situated approximately 30 kms from Panaji, 5 kms from Margao and 25 kms from the Dabolim airport.

The campus is the perfect place for a student to learn and be nurtured into hotel management professionals and hospitality leaders of the future.
